This game makes me angry. I'm a lesser man for having played it.. The postiv reviews are probably payed for by the dev.. Nice shooter!

This is a game with a dynamic and quite addictive gameplay with nice graphics.You have one goal is to destroy the bugs-mutants.

In survival mode you play alone. You are attacked by bugs in waves with increasing complexity. Consumables in the form of turrets, mines and grenades will help you stay alive longer. With the help of a more powerful gun I think the pumping will go faster. In multiplayer you shoot bugs and other players. The maps in the game are not large.

This game leaves a very positive impression.. The postiv reviews are probably payed for by the dev.. Yeah... don't get this, it's not even worth the dollar on sale. Hell, it's not worth it if it's free. This game seems like it's some beginner game dev's partially completed portfolio project, not actually meant to be played. The positive reviews are 100% definitely bought and paid for by the dev.

That said, if it got finished it might be fun. As it stands,

Negatives: there's no tutorial, no explanation of how to use the consumables, can't remap joypad buttons or KBM configuration, only two maps, no story/motivation to play the game. Also, the jungle pyramid map is 3D but you can only shoot in 2D so... There's zero depth to this game whatsoever. One map is for PVE and the other for survival. It looks like a game that should be a top-down shooter tower defense, but that's deceptive, as you must buy such consumables outside of the levels.

Positives: the character power curve would work great if the game was finished, and there's a couple skins you can customize your character with.

0V10. Don't buy, don't play. I'm astonished anyone thought this was a completed product and worth money. LOL. The multiplayer doesn't work.. This game has potential BUT it was never completed...

The multiplayer feature is bugged just like the purpose of the game itself (to kill bugs).

Don't waste your time and/or money on this game.
